

Food and Drink Guidelines

Marx Library, University of South Alabama

The Marx Library enjoys providing a comfortable and inviting study atmosphere for our library users while also protecting the Library's collections, equipment, and furnishings.

The Marx Library allows food and drinks in library study areas. We ask that you endeavor to use drink containers with lids to minimize damage to library resources and facilities. Please dispose of any food and drink related trash in the provided trash receptacles, and please report any spills to library staff immediately so the spill can be cleaned as soon as possible.

Your cooperation with these guidelines will also ensure the full use and enjoyment of our resources and facilities for all current and future users.

Thank you very much for your cooperation.
